This notice of procedural irregularities in the ongoing process of the fire victims voting on PG&E's proposed plan is filed by the undersigned counsel for many (1,021) persons and businesses harmed by the Atlas (Napa), Redwood Valley (Mendocino), and Camp (Paradise) fires.

On May 5, 2020, the undersigned filed in this Court a Notice of Plan Voting

Procedure Irregularities, with ten exhibits, setting forth six different ways law firms favoring acceptance of the plan made it harder for their clients to vote to reject the plan and identifying problems of missing, late, and duplicate ballots. (Doc. 7069)

Since then, two additional devices have come to our attention by which attorneys favoring acceptance of the plan made it harder for fire victims to vote to reject the plan.

- A law firm voting to accept the plan without its client's knowledge or consent and contrary to the client's desire to vote to reject (Exhibit 1),
- A law firm requiring its clients to contact the firm if they wanted to vote to reject the plan and then attempting to convince the clients to change their vote to "accept" (Exhibit 2).

The first notice of procedural irregularities provided examples of missing, late, and duplicate ballots. This notice supplements these problems with additional irregularities noted by fire victims on letters and applications to the Court and on social media platforms, including:

- Fire victims not receiving solicitation materials, including ballots, at all (Application of Ms. Wallace, 5/11/20, Doc. 71410; Exhibit 3),
- Solicitation materials not received by fire victims until the end of April 2020 (Exhibit 4),

I amended my 3 claims on 3/12/30 and waited patiently for voting materials that did not come. I called a couple weeks later and spoke with a very nice woman who said she would send me an email, which I never got. I tried calling multiple times after that, but the number wasn't working so I sent a message from their that, but the number wasn't working, so I sent a message from their website and finally received a response on April 29, 20 All that was sent were 3 voter ID numbers.

I received my packet less than 2 weeks before the vote is due. Because I don't have an attorney, it's up to me to read these documents and seek explanations. Not sure how anyone could read and understand the disclosures with enough time to mail back a vote. If courts have calendar deadlines, why was the mailing of these disclosures not held to the same standards of timeliness?

Please share around. This may have caused some confusion and unnecessary anxiety and phone calls...

My disclosure package contained a cover letter from a law firm that I am not signed with. It seems there was a mix up at Prime Clerk and they allocated the wrong cover letters to some claimants (due to similar firm names). I have included a photo of the cover letter received, and an email notice from my actual attorney:

Prime clerk said contact my attorney for my ballot # ... since I haven't recieved my ballot yet.... my attorney gave the wrong number but states that's the only number prime clerk has given. I need to vote on Prime clerk since my attorney is doing a master ballot. This is such crap. If this goes thru with all the mishaps and confusion we our votes didnt matter anyway....
